How the State Government Works

- Q1. Explain the following terms–majority, ruling party, opposition.
- Ans. A political party whose MLAs have won more than half the number of constituencies in a state can be said to be in a majority. The political party that has the majority is called the ruling party and all other members are called the opposition.
- Q2. Why should decisions taken by the Chief Minister and other ministers be debated in the Legislative Assembly?
- Ans. Whatever decisions are being taken have to be approved by the members of the legislative assembly. In a democracy, these members can ask questions, debate an important issue, decide where money should be spent, etc. They have the main authority to finalize the decision.
- Q3. Who becomes a chief minister? What is his or her role in a state?
- Ans. After the elections, the MLAs belonging to the ruling party will elect their leader who will become the chief minister. The chief minister then selects other people as ministers. The chief minister and other ministers have the responsibility of running various government departments or ministries.
