

Name: _____ Date: _____

Life in the Temperate Grasslands

Q1. Who are called Red Indians?

Ans. _____

Q2. Why Prairies are known as the 'Granaries of the World'?

Ans. _____

Q3. What are the two types of grasslands?

Ans. _____

Q4. What is the major occupation of the people of the South African grasslands?

Ans. _____

Q5. Why is there a rise of wool industry in the velds?

Ans. _____

Q6. Which is the two most developed countries in the world which located in prairies region?

Ans. _____

Life in the Temperate Grasslands

Q1. Who are called Red Indians?

Ans. The grasslands of Prairies were the home of native Americans often called "Red Indians". They were the actual habitant of the continent.

Q2. Why Prairies are known as the 'Granaries of the World'?

Ans. The Prairies are known as the "Granaries of the world," due to the huge surplus of wheat production.

Q3. What are the two types of grasslands?

Ans. The two broad categories of grasslands are: those that occur in the temperate region and those that occur in the tropical regions.

Q4. What is the major occupation of the people of the South African grasslands?

Ans. Sheep rearing is the most important occupation of the people of the South African grasslands.

Q5. Why is there a rise of wool industry in the velds?

Ans. Sheep rearing is the most important occupation of the people. Sheep is bred mainly for wool and has given rise to the wool industry in the velds.

Q6. Which is the two most developed countries in the world which located in prairies region?

Ans. Two of the most developed countries in the world - the USA and Canada are located in prairies region.