

Name: _____ Date: _____

Reaching the Age of Adolescence

Q1. Name the female sex hormone.

Ans. _____

Q2. Name the male sex hormone.

Ans. _____

Q3. What gland controls sex hormones?

Ans. _____

Q4. Name the endocrine gland attached to the brain.

Ans. _____

Q5. Which endocrine gland secretes growth hormone?

Ans. _____

Q6. What element is needed for thyroxine production?

Ans. _____

Q7. State the main symptom of goitre.

Ans. _____

Q8. Which hormone deficiency in the body causes goitre?

Ans. _____

Q9. Which gland secretes insulin hormone?

Ans. _____

Reaching the Age of Adolescence

Q1. Name the female sex hormone.

Ans. Estrogen is the female sex hormone released by ovaries.

Q2. Name the male sex hormone.

Ans. Testosterone is the male sex hormone released by the testes.

Q3. What gland controls sex hormones?

Ans. Pituitary gland controls sex hormones.

Q4. Name the endocrine gland attached to the brain.

Ans. Pituitary gland is an endocrine gland attached to the brain.

Q5. Which endocrine gland secretes growth hormone?

Ans. Pituitary gland secretes growth hormone.

Q6. What element is needed for thyroxine production?

Ans. Thyroxine production requires the presence of iodine.

Q7. State the main symptom of goitre.

Ans. Main symptom of goitre include very big and bulging throat.

Q8. Which hormone deficiency in the body causes goitre?

Ans. Goitre is caused by deficiency of thyroxine hormone in the body.

Q9. Which gland secretes insulin hormone?

Ans. Pancreas secretes insulin hormone.