Q1. Why is water considered as a part of the fundamental right to life?

Ans. Water is essential for life and for good health. Not only is it necessary for us to be able to meet our daily needs but safe drinking water can prevent many water-related diseases. Thus, water is considered as a part of the fundamental right to life.

Q2. Do you think the distribution of public facilities in our country is adequate and fair? Give an example of your own to explain.

Ans. Distribution of public facilities in our country is not adequate and fair. Compared to the metros and large cities, towns and villages are underprovided. Compared to wealthy localities, the poorer localities are underserved.

Q3. Write a short note on 'sulabh'.

Ans. Sulabh, a non-government organisation, has been working for three decades to address the problems of sanitation facing low-caste, low-income people in India. It has constructed more than 7,500 public toilet blocks and 1.2 million private toilets, giving access to sanitation to 10 million people. The majority of the users of Sulabh facilities are from the poor working class.
