

Name: _____ Date: _____

Communicable Diseases

Q1. State True (T) or false (F).

- Malaria is transmitted through the bite of an infected Anopheles mosquito. _____
- Chickenpox is caused through infected food and water. _____
- Vaccination is an effective method of preventing communicable diseases. _____
- Houseflies usually eat liquids. _____
- Communicable diseases are also known as deficiency diseases. _____
- Influenza is a deficiency disease. _____

Q2. Fill in the blanks.

- The mere entry of germs into the body does not cause _____.
- _____ is the best prevention against diseases.
- _____ parasite causes malaria.
- _____ are too small to be seen by the naked eye.
- Organisms such as insects, mites, and ticks that transmit germs to human being and animal are called _____.
- _____ on regular basis makes our body strong and healthy.

Q3. Match the following.

Vectors	Diseases caused due to inadequate intake of an essential nutrient in the diet.
Deficiency diseases	Disease caused by bacteria
Tuberculosis	Organisms such as insects, mites, and ticks that transmit germs to human being and animal.
Anemia	Caused by lack of vitamin C.
Scurvy	Is an iron-deficiency disease.