

Name: _____ Date: _____

In the Earliest Cities

Q1. Which two metals form the alloy bronze?

Ans. _____

Q2. When and where cotton cultivation has started?

Ans. _____

Q3. Make a list of what the Harappans ate.

Ans. _____

Q4. Name the terracotta toys have been found during excavations.

Ans. _____

Q5. How bricks were arranged to build walls in Harappan cities?

Ans. _____

Q6. Why plough was used?

Ans. _____

Q7. Name the cities which had elaborate store houses.

Ans. _____

Q8. Who is a specialist?

Ans. _____

In the Earliest Cities

Q1. Which two metals form the alloy bronze?

Ans. Tin and copper forms the alloy bronze.

Q2. When and where cotton cultivation has started?

Ans. Cotton cultivation started at Mehrgarh about 7000 years ago.

Q3. Make a list of what the Harappans ate.

Ans. Wheat, barley, pulses, peas, rice, sesame, linseed, mustard and fruits.

Q4. Name the terracotta toys have been found during excavations.

Ans. Toy cart and Toy plough

Q5. How bricks were arranged to build walls in Harappan cities?

Ans. The bricks were laid in an interlocking pattern and that made the walls strong.

Q6. Why plough was used?

Ans. The plough was used to dig the earth for turning the soil and planting seeds.

Q7. Name the cities which had elaborate store houses.

Ans. Some cities like Mohenjodaro, Harappa, and Lothal had elaborate store houses.

Q8. Who is a specialist?

Ans. A specialist is a person who is trained to do only one kind of work, for example, cutting stone, or polishing beads, or carving seals.